

Dear Client,

For your information please read below the new terms of booking for classes to avoid any future queries.

Terms when rebooking for a new block of classes as of August 2013

Price for a 6 week block is £51.00

Payment is required in advance to secure your place as places are limited to keep class sizes small so that all receive individual attention.

Payment is non refundable or transferable to another block if you miss any classes

If you are unable to make any classes in the block you are paying for please let me know beforehand. You are then welcome to make up the class in another class within this block as long as there is space, but please let me know which one.

Unfortunately I can't allow classes to be carried over to another block or for money to be taken off of the cost of a block should you miss any classes, so please make sure you can commit to a block or to be able to come to an alternative class within this block if you are booking a space.

There are no exceptions to these terms except in exceptional circumstances and as long as it is discussed and agreed with me in advance.

I like to be as fair and flexible as I can, but I hope you appreciate that as I only have a maximum of 10 booked spaces in a class, I need to ensure that the spaces are fully utilised.

Should you have any questions please speak to me directly.

Many thanks,

Andrea

Think Pilates
07971 445020